Published Processes

Published Processes is a section where users can start processes of published applications without having to go through the Userview.

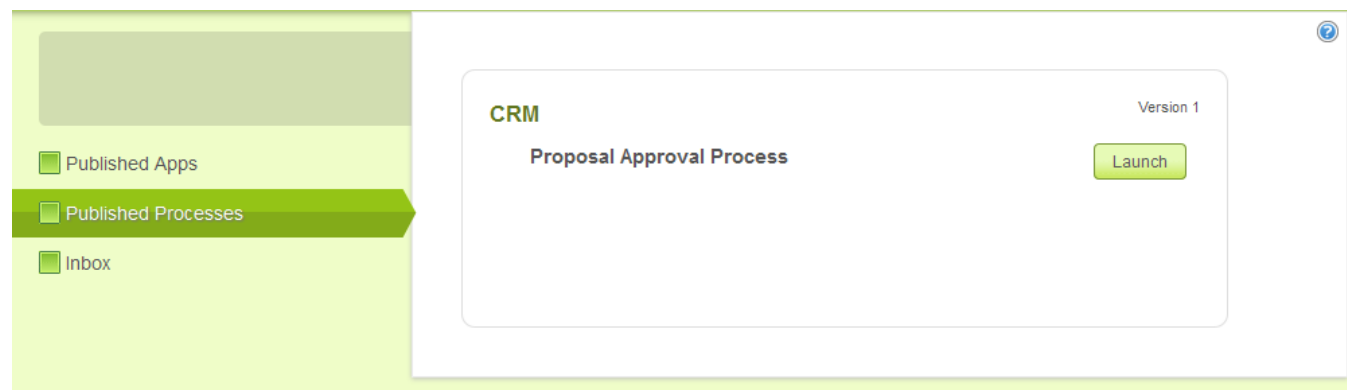

Figure 1: Published Processes
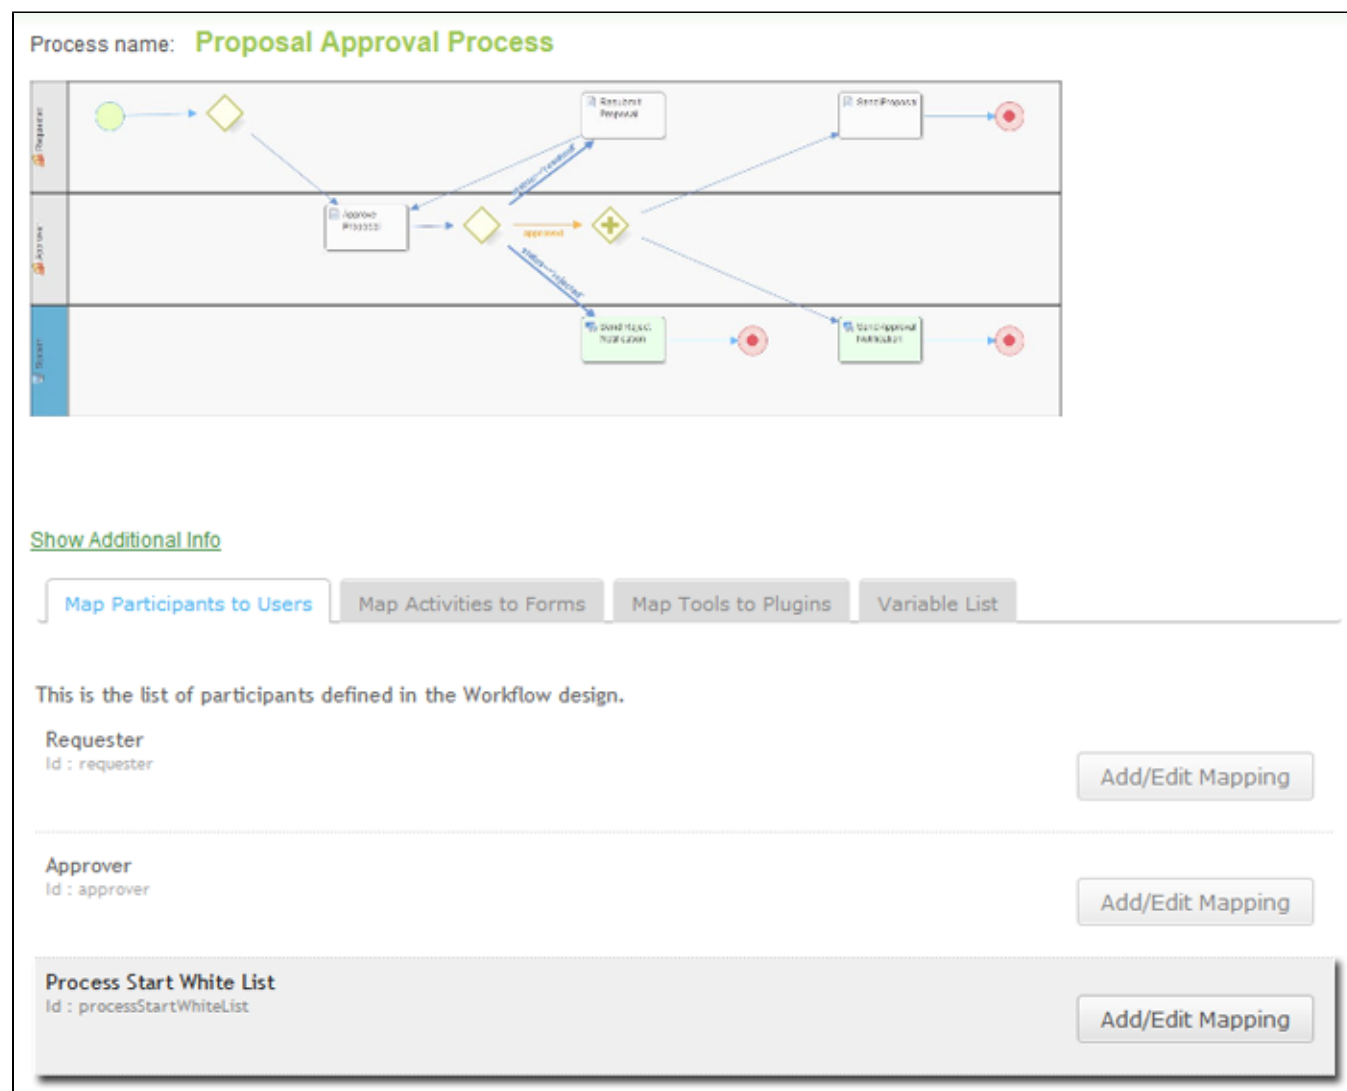

You can control who starts a process through the Process Start White List setting.

Figure 2: Process Start White List